This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Which sum, ($4245.93,) deducted from the said sum of $4280.80, leaves in my hands a balance of $34.87.

The apartment in the Capitol intended for the Library not being prepared for the reception of the books, those bought by me, as well as others belonging to the State, have been placed on temporary shelves in one of the Committee-rooms of the Senate; and of the whole, one of my sons has prepared the Catalogues appended to this Report.

Among these books, the works of Dugald Stewart, the Encyclopædia Britannica, the Gazetteer of the World, and perhaps one or two others, are publications that have not been completed, or are parts of new editions still in progress; and it will be necessary, of course, to procure the remaining volumes to complete the copies. It would be inexcusable to buy an old edition of any leading book, especially of a Cyclopædia, when there is a new one in progress, professing to present the existing state of knowledge, to correct past errors, and amplify the various departments of science.

I have ventured to subscribe, on behalf of the State, for a copy of the great work of Agassiz on the Natural History of the United States, the publication of which is soon to be commenced, and for a copy of the Reports of the Decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, by Judge Curtis, now issuing from the press of Messrs. Little, Brown & Co., of Boston. Should this be disapproved, some other disposition of both works can be readily made.

In a public library, provided at the common expense of the people, every citizen ought to find books—the best of their kind, if possible—relating to his particular pursuit. This end has been aimed at in this collection; but it can hardly be said that the attempt has been quite successful; nor, indeed, is absolute success within the compass of so small an appropriation. On inspection, however, of these lists, it will be seen that most branches of useful knowledge are represented.

A library crowded with an indiscriminate medley of all the productions of the press, is certainly far from desirable; but it is impossible for a people to make itself a more useful present than a collection of books, open at all seasons, so comprehensive and complete as to enable the investigator to possess himself of the real knowledge that the united wisdom of the world has accumulated, touching human pursuits on earth and the state of man hereafter. Nothing short of such a collection ought to satisfy the Legislature of a State that is free, and that is resolved to remain so as long as there is a man on earth.

The "Classified Catalogue" has been prepared to show how imperfect the collection is, and to serve as a guide for its continuation.

An additional appropriation of ten thousand dollars, judiciously invested, would establish the library upon a solid foundation, and make it a truly desirable and useful resort for all the longing worshippers of wisdom, whose silent and often despised vigils have gradually delivered mankind from the misery and brutal degradation of the savage state, and led the race to the glorious liberty that belongs alone to the mind made free.

For the preservation of our small but precious treasure, it must be put in charge of a Librarian, whose duty it shall be to keep it open daily for the public use, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. As the books belong alike to every citizen, it is plain that they cannot be taken from the Library-room, but must remain there, so as to be at all times accessible to all. There can be no necessity for any but one exception to this rule: the members of the Legislature, while in the discharge of their duties at the Capitol, must perhaps be permitted to take books from the room; but even in that case, a check should be left with the Librarian, and the cost of such as are lost by a member should be deducted from his pay.

My accounts are ready to be submitted to such examination as the Legislature may deem expedient. Receipts have been taken for all payments, except for drayage from the wharf or railroad dépôt to the Capitol, and similar small services; and the original invoices, showing the cost of every volume, are preserved, and will be filed in the Library.

All which is respectfully submitted:

R. J. MEIGS.
